

August 26, 2020

Holocaust Memorial Center to Host Virtual Film and Conversation About Charlottesville

The Holocaust Memorial Center Zekelman Family Campus in Farmington Hills will host a virtual program featuring a film and conversation about the 2017 white supremacist rally in Charlottesville, Va. on Wednesday, Sept. 2 at 7 p.m.

The event, which will begin with a showing of the short documentary "Reawakening," which recounts the neo-Nazi rally outside Charlottesville's only synagogue, will be available as a Zoom webinar.

Following the screening, filmmaker Alexandra Horowitz and Rabbi Rachel Schmelkin will have a discussion on using the lessons of Charlottesville, as well as the memory of the Holocaust, to fight racism, antisemitism, and hate in 2020 America.

"We are honored to have Alexandra Kauffman Horowitz and Rabbi Rachel Schmelkin share their perspective on the impact of what happened in Charlottesville," says Rabbi Eli Mayerfeld, CEO of the Holocaust Memorial Center. "As we encounter instances of hate, the experience of the Charlottesville community resonates with all of us."

Registration is required. To register, visit here. For more information, visit here or call 248-553-2400.