Holocaust Center to present discussion on "Race and the Memory of Evil"

The Holocaust Memorial Center of Farmington Hills will host the program, "Learning from the Germans: Race and the Memory of Evil," at 2 p.m. Feb. 21.

This live Zoom webinar will feature a discussion between Susan Nieman, philosopher and author; and Jenn White, host of National Public Radio's 1A show; about Germany's effort to "atone for the Holocaust." The discussion will also include the work that Americans today are trying to do "to make amends for our country's historical wrongdoings," the announcement said.
