Holocaust Memorial Center Announces Winners of Second Annual Kappy Family Anne Frank Art & Writing Competition

Award ceremony hosted on May 17

Farmington Hills, Mich. – May XX, 2018 – The Holocaust Memorial Center Zekelman Family Campus (HMCZFC) has announced the winners of the second annual Kappy Family Anne Frank Art & Writing Competition. Open to Oakland and Macomb County students in grades nine through 12, the competition included three art categories: drawing, painting and photography, as well as three writing categories: poetry, fiction and non-fiction.

Winners were honored on May 17 during a ceremony at the museum attended by family, friends, educators, competition judges and HMCZFC staff. At the conclusion of the award ceremony, a display of the winning art and writing submissions was unveiled.

The theme for this year's competition was "The Power of Hope." Students were invited to create a written or artistic response to a quote by Anne Frank, "Where there's hope, there's life. It fills us with fresh courage and makes us strong again."

The competition is presented with support from the Kappy family. Garry Kappy is the last surviving member of his family. He was born in Opatow, Poland, and was imprisoned in different labor camps when he was 15 years old. He survived the horrors of the Buchenwald and Auschwitz concentration camps. While Kappy recognizes the importance of memorializing the victims of the Holocaust, he felt it was crucial to educate and help prevent future genocides. It was this inspiration that led to the Kappy Family Anne Frank Art & Writing Competition.

"I found it incredibly meaningful to see how Anne Frank's story inspired students from such diverse backgrounds and experiences," said Dr. Irvin Kappy, Garry's son. "It was wonderful meeting the honorees and seeing their artistic creativity in response to this year's theme."

“On behalf of the Kappy family, the judging committee and everyone at the Holocaust Memorial Center, I want to applaud the students for their thoughtful writing and art submissions,” said Aliza Tick, Education Associate, Holocaust Memorial Center. “We invite the community to visit the museum and take the time to view the winning art, stories and poems from area students. It is illuminating and inspiring to see how teenagers, who are the same age that Anne Frank was when she wrote her diary, express the lessons they have learned about the Holocaust.”

The Holocaust Memorial Center is home to one of the saplings from the chestnut tree that grew outside of Anne Frank’s hiding place. During nearly two years in hiding, her exposure to the outside world was limited to what she could see outside her window. “From my favorite spot on the floor, I look up at the blue sky and the bare chestnut tree, on whose branches little raindrops shine, appearing like silver,” she wrote in 1944. “When I looked outside right into the depth of nature and God, then I was happy, really happy.” The sapling spent three years in quarantine before being planted on-site at the museum during a dedication ceremony in 2013 at the Viola and Garry Kappy Anne Frank Tree Exhibit and Garden.
